Microsite Feedback

1. You should think about resizing some of the photos on the website and consider how the images interplay with the text.

2. Finish reconsidering the text on each page. Make sure it does not seem just like a huge blob of text.

3. Make sure to give credit for the photos that you used.

4. Work on making website responsive.

5. Maybe want to play around with font family for the font used in the body.

6. Just be sure to work on and finish the website!
